Olivia LaGoy-Weltz and Rassing's Lonoir set a personal best to win the Grand Prix Freestyle CDI-W, presented by Lövsta at AGDF 1. © SusanJStickle.com

Olivia LaGoy-Weltz and Rassing's Lonoir danced to yet another victory on Sunday, January 17, concluding week one of the 2021 Adequan® Global Dressage Festival with their personal best score, an 81.545% in the FEI Grand Prix Freestyle CDI-W presented by Lövsta.

Second place in the class was awarded to Yvonne Losos De Muniz (DOM) on Aquamarijn, her own 16-year-old KWPN mare by United (78.165%); while third place went to USA's Anna Marek on Dee Clair, Diane Morrison's 13-year-old KWPN mare by Sir Sinclair, who earned a 76.100%, another personal best.

"It's great to get a personal best," LaGoy-Weltz began. "Whenever you've been out for a long time - it's been since February 2020 for us because of COVID - you always wonder if you'll remember how to do it. You're a little rusty, the test riding needs polishing, and the horse has to settle. It's nice to be coming out this strong, and that makes you feel good about the whole program."

Riding to pieces of the Simon and Garfunkel hit "Cecelia" with freestyle music created by Marlene Whitaker, LaGoy-Weltz and the 17-year-old Danish Warmblood by De Noir 3 owned by LaGoy-Weltz and Mary Anne McPhail perfected some of the suggestions given to them during the Grand Prix CDI-W on Friday.

"Last night I went over my test in detail," explained LaGoy-Weltz, "and went over judges' feedback from the last test to figure out where we are in the evolution of trying to allow more of this horse out, to look at the things I held back on Friday. For example, feedback on my last test was 'Open up more in the changes,' and I knew I could do that this time around. Here and there, taking the feedback and making the best of it is really important."

Typically ridden during "Friday Night Stars" in years past, the CDI-W Freestyle atmosphere was different, but appreciated by LaGoy-Weltz. She said, "With a horse like Lonoir, I enjoy riding at night and have definitely figured out how to manage that because he gets quite hot, but I do feel like he wasn't missing that enthusiasm too much. Of course, we miss the people and the fans, but we are very grateful to be having the show, so any format is a good format."

Judge at C, Janet Foy (USA) echoed LaGoy-Weltz's sentiment about being back in the show ring. "Everyone has to dust the cobwebs off, even the judges, because we

LYLE AND HARMONY'S DUVAL TOP LARGE TOUR CLASSES AT AGDF 1

The 2021 Adequan® Global Dressage Festival (AGDF) kicked off its tenth season at the Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) in Wellington, FL, on Thursday, January 14, with a victory for Adrienne Lyle (USA) and Harmony's Duval in the FEI Grand Prix CDI3*, presented by Harmony Sporthorses. The first week of AGDF was the Lloyd Landkamer Memorial Week.

Lyle and the 13-year-old KWPN gelding by Rosseau owned by Duval Partners LLC have been dominating in the Global Stadium at PBIEC lately, coming off of a double victory weekend in December.

"I was quite happy with him," said Lyle of the day's performance, which resulted in a score of 71.304%.

Second place in the class was captured by Susan Pape (GBR) on Harmony's Eclectisch, Harmony Sporthorses' 12-year-old KWPN stallion by Zenon, earning a 70.522%. Third place went to Jennifer Williams (USA) on Millione, Millione Partners' 18-year-old Danish Warmblood gelding by Milan (70.456%).

"I thought it was great that the Harmony Sporthorses were one and two in the class today," concluded Lyle. "Leslie Malone [of Harmony Sporthorses] was generous in allowing us to purchase Duval when he was young, making it possible for us to bring him along like this."

A second victory came for Adrienne Lyle (USA) and Harmony's Duval on Saturday in the FEI Grand Prix Special CDI3*, presented by Harmony Sporthorses. Lyle and the Duval Partners LLC's 13-year-old KWPN gelding (by Rosseau) earned a 74.830% for their day's performance. The pair landed three percentage points above second-place finisher Jennifer Williams, who earned a personal best score (72.192%) with Millione, an 18-year-old Danish Warmblood gelding by Milan owned by Millione Partners. Third place went to Susan Pape (GBR) on Harmony's Eclectisch, Harmony Sporthorses' 12-year-old KWPN stallion by Zenon, who received a 71.724% from judges.

"He felt much more comfortable in his own skin today," said Lyle of the gelding. "I was really happy with him. He felt much softer in his back, and the connection through the ride was a lot better than in our test on Thursday. He was really able to show off some of his highlights today, and I'm thrilled with the overall performance."

FUEL THE WIN WITH PROFORCE® FROM NUTRENA®

There's a reason both professionals and sponsored riders are such big fans of ProForce®. Winners align themselves with winners. And they know choosing high-quality nutrition is one of the biggest ways to give their horses a leg up in the arena.

Nutrena® has built upon that notion and taken it a step further by offering a product that helps horses recover after strenuous activity.

Horses are athletes, just like humans. Whether in practice or in competition, performing at the level of an athlete requires proper fuel. What goes into the body has a significant impact on what the body can do. ProForce's Rebound Technology™ is a unique, proprietary blend of research-backed chromium and branched chain amino acids (BCAAs) to support exercise recovery. Chromium supports glucose moving to the cells where it's needed for energy to repair and replenish after work.

Like their human athlete counterparts, a solid nutrition plan is the fuel that allows performance horses to compete and perform at their highest level. When horses have the right nutrition, they are better able to quickly return to peak performance after strenuous training sessions and/or competitions. With Rebound Technology, recovery isn't an afterthought, the horse is always being fed for optimal performance.

But it's not just Rebound Technology in ProForce that sets it apart.

Topline Balance® is Nutrena's unique approach to topline health and is found in all of our ProForce formulas. It's the right amount, type and balance of amino acids to keep your horse's topline strong and healthy.

Want your horses to have that extra "something" that turns heads? Our exclusive Nutri-Bloom Advantage® improves overall fiber digestion by up to 15% which helps result in better health and bloom.

We also include marine-sourced calcite which supports gastric health and helps maintain normal stomach pH.

Every ProForce product includes Nutrena's Empower® Boost, a high fat rice bran extruded nugget to maintain a higher fat content.

And all ProForce products are eligible for Nutrena's Plaid Perks loyalty program. Earn points for any Nutrena feed purchase and redeem for rewards and discounts.

Set yourself apart from the competition and fuel the win with ProForce. For more information, visit Nutrenaworld.com.

A Q&A with ANNA BUFFINI

Anna Buffini and FRH Davinia La Douce competed in their first Grand Prix Freestyle CDI-W at AGDF 1 and placed fourth. © KTB Creative Photography

At just 26 years old, USA rider Anna Buffini has an impressive list of accolades to her name, including the 2014 USEF Young Rider Dressage National Championship, the 2016 Under 25 Grand Prix National Championship (and Reserve Championship), and the 2017 U25 Nations Cup Team Gold Medal. Now, after a successful U25 career, Buffini has a brand-new mount and is taking the dressage world by storm once more.

Q: Tell us about your partnership with your new mare, FRH Davinia la Douce (12yo Hanoverian mare by Don Frederico) aka “Diva”

A: “As crazy and as weird as the year was, it’s basically the reason why I have this new partnership. My trainer Guenter [Seidel] is great friends with the Balkenhol family, and we had tried this mare a few years ago. I ended up coming home with a different horse at that time, but she was always in the back of our mind. This year I had to retire basically all of my horses, and I was left with zero hope for a 2021 season, and possibly no 2022 season either.

When we found out that she was still for sale, we bought her off of a competition video. Normally we wouldn’t do that; we’d go try the horse. But she’s my pandemic miracle, and it’s shown me that beautiful things can still come out of hard times.

She got here in October, and after her quarantine we got straight to work. About a month later we went to our first CDI, and she ended up doing better than we ever could have hoped for. A big reason that we’ve been able to mesh like this is because of her training. Guenter trained with Klaus Balkenhol, and because of that, the transition has worked out so well. I’ve ridden other horses and have not even been close to show ready after six months, and we had to do the grand prix after only 30 or so rides together. Thankfully it went really well, and then decided we’d go for Florida!”

Q: What is Diva’s personality like?

A: “I’ve never owned a mare before, and everybody said they’re very spicy and sassy - especially chestnut mares - and she definitely is, particularly on the ground! But, she’s also so sweet and such a personable horse. She loves people, cookies, and being spoiled. She’s a bit like a puppy, and she loves cuddling!

At the show, she’s a gamer. As soon as you get on her back, she’s ready to go. She’s dependable, focused, and really takes care of me. She tries her heart out, seems to love her job, and gives me her whole heart when we’re in that arena.”

Q: What are her strengths under saddle?

A: “She is super-hot and never gets tired, which is something I love in a horse. She’s got a lot of energy, determination, and go, and I think that’s her biggest asset. Movement-wise, she loves to passage, and she has a wonderful extended trot.”

Q: At AGDF 1 you competed in your very first CDI-W Freestyle together. What was that experience like, and what inspired your freestyle music and choreography?

A: “This was our first freestyle together, and it was incredible. We had a few bobbles, but I’m confident that I can work on those mistakes and it will just get better from there.

Music and horses are my two greatest passions, so riding a freestyle really is my favorite thing to do. It’s so special to not only ride, but to put together.

The music is by the band BTS. My family and I stumbled upon them right before quarantine in March, and their music has been something that has brought us closer than ever this year, and has really inspired us. I picked out some of my favorite elements from their music and worked with Marie Medosi [Medosi Productions] to create it. We are still adjusting it a bit, and I’m going to put some of my personal music in it as well, so I’m very excited to ride to that! Ultimately my goal was to create something that inspires joy. I hope we did that and continue to do that!”

Q: What does your competition schedule look like this season?

A: “We are trying to show her a fair amount so we can really get to know one another. We are on our sixty-third ride, so we have so much to learn about each other. Every show is an opportunity so I’m just trying to take notes, study the videos, and get a great feeling. The mistakes I make teach me a lot, versus if we were doing things perfectly.”

2020 SUMMIT FARMS FUTURE CHALLENGE PRIX ST. GEORGES SERIES AND LÖVSTA FUTURE CHALLENGE YOUNG HORSE GRAND PRIX SERIES CONCLUDE WITH VICTORIES FOR FURSTENBALL OFFSPRING

The $15,000 Lövsta Future Challenge Young Horse Grand Prix Series welcomed combinations into the Stadium at Equestrian Village on Sunday, January 17, to compete in the 2020 Final, originally set to take place in March 2020. The series idea, originally set up by Tinne Vilhelmson Silfvén and Louise Nathhorst in its home country of Sweden as a talent development program, is for horses aged eight to 10 years old at the Grand Prix level.

The final awarded first place and a score of 73.631% to Alice Tarjan (USA) on Donatella M, her own 10-year-old Oldenburg mare by Furstenball. Second place went to Susan Dutta (USA) on Don Design DC, her 11-year-old gelding by Der Designer (72.394%). Michael Klimke (GER) rounded out the top three on Harmony’s Diablo, Harmony Sporthorses’ 11-year-old Hanoverian gelding by Desparadis, with a 70.815%.

Tarjan noted, “To have a series like this in Florida is really great. There isn’t anything else like this here. It’s also nice to get that exposure to the judges and the big arena. You’d never get that elite judge exposure, so we are really lucky to have this.”

Tarjan and the mare have had a light competition calendar and came into the week with only a few national shows and developing Grand Prix Championships under their belt since the 2020 AGDF season.

“We did the developing Grand Prix Championships in Chicago and had a light fall,” explained Tarjan. “When we got down here we competed in two national shows to get her ready for this final. Her feeling in the ring is getting better. Yesterday we had two big mistakes, but today she was better and improves each time she goes in there. I just tried to ride her softly and own it. She tries her heart out for me, and that’s all I can ask.”

The mare was purchased by Tarjan in her fourth year and spent some time as a broodmare before stepping back into the competition ring. “She did young horse championships as a four-year-old,” she said. “We had some problems keeping her sound, so she had a baby when she was six, and then after she gave birth we brought her back into work, so she actually doesn’t have much training. She missed two-and-a-half-years of training. Since we brought her back she’s been great. She’s an honest horse, and it’s just been about taking the time to get her confident.”

In the 2020 $10,000 Summit Farms Future Challenge Prix St. Georges Final, Canada’s Pia Fortmuller took home the victory with her 10-year-old Hanoverian mare Frieda (also by Furstenball), scoring a 74.852%. Jodie Kelly-Baxley (USA) on her own 10-year-old KWPN gelding by Negro, Grayton Beach, earned second place with a 72.734%, while Kelly Layne (AUS) brought home third on Fernando, Ellen Trouille’s nine-year-old Hanoverian gelding by Foundation, with a 71.911%.

Fortmuller has had Frieda since she was two years old and has developed a dynamic relationship with her that she hopes will welcome a promising future. “My biggest goal today was to give her confidence and consistency,” she explained. “She was 110% consistent with me and was with me the whole time. It means the world to have this opportunity with her. I have big hopes for her future, so today was a huge milestone for us.”

She continued, “The extra six months coming into this final really gave her more time to get more confident. We finished off the last CDI here (in March 2020) with a major breakthrough. I had taken a step back with her the year before and didn’t show, and I came back out at small tour and she really found her confidence in the higher levels of collection, so to have some time to get that developed further was helpful.”

Fortmuller also noted the mare’s sensitivity and explained how she has made her a more articulate rider:

“She is very sensitive, very loyal, and knows her people,” she said. “In terms of trainability, she’s the type of horse that doesn’t want to make a mistake. That means that I really have to up my game and hold myself accountable. If there’s a mistake, it’s my fault. Her sensitivity is a wonderful thing and has really made me a better rider.”

Fortmuller plans to continue on with the mare’s training and compete in the 2021 Lövsta Future Challenge Young Horse Grand Prix Series this season. “This series is such a valuable building block in the horse’s career,” she went on. “In Europe they have many classes like this, and to be able to get into the big ring is inspiring for the horses and the riders. I’m excited to continue participating in them and look forward to the future.”

AGDF Director of Sport Thomas Baur concluded, “It’s crucial to have these series because it brings up the next generation of FEI horses. For Global, it’s really important to have these classes. I’d like to extend my congratulations to the winners, but also to the other competitors, as we have seen a lot of talent and a lot of hope for the future. And finally, it’s remarkable that the winners of these two finals were both mares by Furstenball.”

The 2021 Lövsta Future Challenge Young Horse Grand Prix Series and 2021 Future Challenge Prix St. Georges Series will begin with qualifying classes during AGDF 3.

haven't been judging because there haven't been a lot of CDIs. We are all excited to get back to it."

Foy continued, "The class as a whole was really strong. Today was probably one of the best days judging ever here in the U.S., because we started with judging super young horses (Summit Farms Future Challenge Prix St. Georges Final and the Lövsta Future Challenge Young Horse Grand Prix Final) all morning and had wonderful horses all afternoon. I can't say enough about the quality of the whole day. I gave Olivia a 10 on her first piaffe right in front of me. It was bouncy, it was active, and on the spot, beautiful contact, absolute harmony, and no tension. [It was a] super top-quality ride, the music was beautiful, and she rode to the music in a really wonderful way. Her degree of difficulty was incredibly high. To get that high of a score on the degree of difficulty but keep it harmonious, that's very good riding. Super horse, super training, and I can't say enough about it."

AGDF Director of Sport Thomas Baur applauded the efforts of staff and competitors in the opening week of the 2021 season, saying: "I think we should be very grateful that we are here. The COVID measures worked really well this week; people were complying with masks and distancing and were very diligent. Overall, it's been a good start."
