On Friday, March 19, at the Palm Beach International Equestrian Center (PBIEC) in Wellington, FL, Adrienne Lyle (USA) and Harmony's Duval had the winning ride in the FEI Grand Prix Freestyle CDIO3*, presented by Stillpoint Farm.

Lyle and Harmony's Duval, Duval Partners LLC's 2008 KWPN gelding by Rousseau, conquered the freestyle under the lights, riding to a score of 80.020%. "It was worth staying up past my bedtime!" she joked.

"There's really nothing that compares to riding at Global on a Friday Night Stars," continued Lyle. "It's one of my favorite experiences in the horse world. To do this on Duval, who we had from when he was unbroke, all the way up to becoming an individual gold medalist here, is just really special. I've got an unbelievable group of owners that have supported me along the way.

Lyle noted that her freestyle is from her previous mount Wizard in 2011 at Dressage at Devon, but thought it would fit well for her mount's second ever freestyle.

"I wanted to go back to something I knew since Duval has done one freestyle in his life, so I could give him a good experience out there," she explained.

Lyle and the gelding produced top performances all week, achieving the highest scores in both the grand prix and grand prix special before contesting the freestyle. "I started with the canter work with him [when planning the degree of difficulty]" she remarked. "I think he's got some fun, powerful canter work. It's not the most difficult freestyle out there nowadays. When I made it, they didn't have the degree of difficulty score the way that they do now. But it still has double pirouettes [and] piaffe pirouettes, so it gets enough [degree of difficulty points]. I think it's a really fun one; it doesn't always have to be for him the most difficult every time he goes out."

Judge at C Stephen Clarke (GBR) awarded Lyle with an 82.775% and commented on her strong performance. "The reason why I gave Adrienne such a high mark," he explained, "was an easy one - the hair on the back of my neck was standing up because the music and power and expression of the whole performance was outstanding."

Second place went to the night's youngest competitor, 21-year-old Benjamin Ebeling, who excelled in his first senior grand prix freestyle under the lights at AGDF with Illuster Van De Kampert, a 2008 Belgian Warmblood gelding by Speilberg owned by Amy Roberts Ebeling and Sasha Cutter for Nuvolari Holdings LLC.

"I was talking with my teammates Adrienne [Lyle] and Katherine [Bateson Chandler] and Jennifer [Williams], [about the fact that] it's so cool that I got to grow up watching Adrienne and Katherine and people like my dad [Jan Ebeling] all ride on a team together," he said. "Finally I'm here, and it's surreal."

Ebeling had a successful career in the Under 25 division and worked his way up to the senior level with Illuster. "I would be remiss if I did not mention George Williams and Charlotte Bredahl," he continued, "going through the pipeline of junior, young rider, U25, and now the international grand prix. The support I've had from them has really been amazing. Like Adrienne said, I don't think there's

Germany Wins First FEI Stillpoint Farm Nations Cup CDIO3* at Adequan® Global Dressage Festival

The German team of Kevin Kohmann, Christoph Koschel, Frederic Wandres, and Michael Klimke, shown with AGDF Director of Sport Thomas Baur, Tuny Page of Stillpoint Farm, and judge Christoph Umbach, won the Stillpoint Farm FEI Nations Cup CDIO3*. © SusanJStickle.com

It was the second day of competition for the FEI Stillpoint Farm Nations Cup™ CDIO3* at the Adequan® Global Dressage Festival (AGDF), and the team from Germany took home their first ever gold medal at the Wellington Nations Cup with 448.568% on Thursday, March 18. A hairsbreadth behind for the silver medal was the team from the United States, who earned 448.381%. Canada was awarded the bronze medal with 437.071%.

First in the ring for the Germans was Michael Klimke piloting Domino 957, Uwe Kappel's 2012 Westphalian mare by Den Haag, to a score of 68.000% in the FEI Intermediaire I CDIO3*, which ultimately became the drop score for the team.

"First I want to say thank you to the organizers," said Klimke. "It's a very difficult time with the pandemic and the outbreaks, and the show has gone on perfectly organized. We all come from Germany and there is [no competition] going on there, so a big thanks from the German riders, the German team, and the German federation to the organizers. We are very, very happy to be sitting here."

Klimke, who was also serving as the team's Chef d'Equipe, noted the strength of the other three riders he was leading. "We have three top riders here. My mare was a little tired but the other three did a super, super job, and it was so close and we are more than happy that Germany won. Christoph and I have been here for eight years, and Germany has never won. Normally the Germans are only winning in Germany, so it makes us more happy and more proud."

Kevin Kohmann rode Equitas LLC's 2010 KWPN stallion by Amazing Star, Five Star, to two solid finishes in the Nations Cup classes on Wednesday and Thursday, concluding the FEI Intermediaire I CDIO3*, presented by Stillpoint Farm with a score of 74.206%.

"I'm super proud to represent Germany once again," he explained. "Five Star just hasn't let me down all season. Yesterday was his high score in the Prix St. Georges, so it felt especially good to do that with the team here with me. Super proud, super happy."

It was Frederic Wandres' first time competing in the FEI Stillpoint Farm Nations Cup™ CDIO3* at AGDF, and he also posted two strong scores for his team aboard Quizmaster, Hof Kasselmann's 2012 Hanoverian stallion by Quasar de Charry, riding to a 76.529% in the FEI Intermediaire I CDIO3*.

Of his first North American Nations Cup experience, Wandres said, "I am very happy with my horse. He also put in two super rounds. Today he was very concentrated, and we were

Team Canada Conquers CDIO-U25 Nations Cup, Presented by Diamante Farms

For the first time in five years of the Under 25 Nations Cup at AGDF, Canada won the gold medal in the Nations Cup CDIO-U25 presented by Diamante Farms.

First in the ring for Team Canada was Beatrice Boucher, who rode Camille and Gilles Bergeron's 2006 KWPN gelding by Havidoff, Baldacci, to a score of 65.323%.

She began, "I just went in and tried my best to get through the test. It's the first CDI that I've done with this horse, and I've only ridden him in two shows to qualify for this show, so I don't know him very well in the show ring."

It is the 23-year-old's first season competing in the U25 division, and she noted that she wants to spend a bit more time perfecting her performance before heading the Grand Prix in a year or two. Of her first Nations Cup experience, Boucher said, "It's really special to be on a team with these two riders, so it feels very exciting. They're great teammates, and the whole experience has been fun."

Second in for the Canadians was 21-year-old Vanessa Creech-Terauds riding Fleur De Lis L, Diane Creech and Louise Leatherdale's 2009 Hanoverian mare by First Dance, earning a 66.529%.

Creech-Terauds commented that in contrast to Boucher, she and Fleur De Lis L have a longstanding relationship.

"I started with Fleur five years ago, and we went from the Junior division to the young rider division, and now the U25," she said. "This is our first year doing the CDIO-U25 together, so it's been a really amazing journey because we know each other so well. It's really fun going out there into the ring with her."

Camille Carier Bergeron was the last to go in the class and sealed the deal as the anchor rider with a 69.412% on Acoeur, Gilles Bergeron's 2007 Württemberg gelding by Acordelli. After two riders each for the teams from Canada and United States, it came down to Carier Bergeron and Acoeur to put in a strong score to garner the gold medal. They did just that, bringing Canada's team total to 135.941%.

"I've had Acoeur for three years now," said Carier Bergeron. "This year has been a really good year for us, and I feel like we've gained a lot of experience in the CDI ring. We're more confident when we go in the ring now, and he's so steady. He's just a horse that wants to give his all, and he's very steady, very calm."

The United States of America took home second place in the CDIO-U25 presented by Diamante Farms with an overall team score of 135.295%. Rosemary Julian-Simoes on Rankrado, Rankrado LLC's 2004 ZfDP stallion by Ranko, contributed a score of 65.471%. Codi Harrison (USA) on Katholt's Bossco, her own 2007 Danish Warmblood stallion by Blue Hors Don Schufro, were awarded a 67.177%; and Hope Cooper (USA) and Hot Chocolate W, Mary Mansfield's 2005 Hanoverian gelding by Hochadel scored a 68.118%.

able to achieve a high score. I am very proud to compete here in the Nations Cup. I did some in Europe, but here in America, the Americans also had a super team, so I am more proud that we are here now."

Last to go for the team was anchor rider Christoph Koschel, who was also the only team member to contest the FEI Grand Prix Special CDIO3*, presented by Stillpoint Farm. Riding Eaton Unitechno, Unitechno Inc's 2009 KWPN gelding by Wynton, the pair was the deciding factor after earning a score of 73.000% from judges.

"I didn't know what percentage I needed," admitted Koschel, "and they didn't tell me thank God! I heard that Adrienne's [Lyle] score was high, and the others were very good, too. First I was coaching Ben Ebeling on the USA team, and that was very exciting as a trainer, and then I knew that I had to ride even more for our team."

Koschel joked, "I had a really good start there, and everyone knows how expensive it is when you canter in the half-pass, so after that I knew that I wasn't allowed to make any more mistakes. My horse can be pretty sharp and is still a little green, but we really had to stay clear, and it worked out well. At the end of the day, it was very close, and we are very proud."

AGDF Director of Sport Thomas Baur concluded, "I think it's very important to start the FEI Nations Cup series here in Wellington. We are happy to start the season here, and I hope that the other CDIOs in Europe will go on."

Missing the gold medal by only two-tenths of a percent was the team from the United States, consisting of Katherine Bateson Chandler on Alcazar, Benjamin Ebeling on Illuster Van De Kampert, Adrienne Lyle on Harmony's Duval, and Jennifer Williams on Millionaire.

Chef d'Equipe Debbie McDonald was proud of her team, half of whom had never ridden in a senior Nations Cup before.

"I can always expect our team to deliver," she said. "We have two more or less rookies in their first Nations Cup and two that have been there several times. Today we were one-two-three in the Grand Prix. The Germans did a very good job. More than half of their team was Small Tour. It was an amazing competition and an exciting ending. I congratulate the Germans, and I'm so proud of Team USA."

Canada finished with the bronze medal with 437.071%, while Australia was fourth on 391.089%.

anything like riding under the lights here. I've always wanted to do it for the last four years that I've been in Wellington. To do this for the first time is really, really cool."

The pair had never ridden this freestyle together, and Ebeling noted that the "Star Wars"-themed ride had just been finished the day before. "It was ready yesterday, and I ran through it on foot before I got here. That was the first time ever riding to it," he stated. "This is his first time competing for three days in a row. In the warm-up he was a little tired, which is to be expected. But then as we got in that arena, he perked up. Let me tell you, I had so much fun riding that freestyle, because I'm also a Star Wars fan!"

He concluded, "I need to mention the support of the two owners, my mom, Amy Ebeling, and Sasha Cutter. They've been behind me all of the way and have been a big part of our development along with my dad who's my day-to-day coach, and Christoph Koschel who has really helped me fine tune the horse. I'm so proud of his development. At the beginning of last season we weren't doing so well, but we finally managed to calm down his nerves and bring a presence into the show arena that I'm so proud of, and I'm so proud of the whole team."

Third place was awarded to Canada's Brittany Fraser-Beaulieu and All In, Brittany Fraser and Marc Andre Beaulieu's 2005 KWPN gelding by Tango, who received a 77.065% for their test.

"All In had to have 10 days off because he had really bad allergies," explained Fraser-Beaulieu. "That's why I had to withdraw from the five star. Personally he wasn't as fit as I would have liked him to be for the Grand Prix and the Grand Prix Special this week, but each day I felt him get better and better."

"Tonight he felt like his old self again," she said. "That, for me, made me very happy, and it was a relief to say, 'He's back, and he has this.' He's so fun under the lights. He has so much power, so much scope. Last time we competed under the lights was a year ago at Nations Cup. It's always such a fun time."

N2 Saddlery The Common Denominator of The Season's Top Riders

By JRPR Equine News Room

N2 Saddlery is proud to be the presenting sponsor of the N2 Saddlery Sport Horse of the Week at the 2021 Adequan® Global Dressage Festival. The master saddle makers are equally proud of the results of their top N2 Saddlery Team Riders this season, including Adrienne Lyle, Kelly Layne, Sarah Lockman, and Sabine Schut-Kery.

"Top FEI riders and horses require top sport equipment. That's why they choose N2 saddles," explains N2 Saddlery Master Saddle Fitter and Owner, Sue Newell. "We design our saddles with the needs of the horse and the needs of the rider in the forefront. We insist on the finest British-sourced materials and designs that will allow the rider to be balanced and ride effectively. In addition, each of our N2 Saddle designs is crafted for the horses' comfort by giving them the freedom to use their back and shoulders effectively. Our name, N2 Saddlery, is all about meeting the needs of the horse and the needs of the rider."

The company's ability to meet those needs has attracted many of sport's top riders to the N2 saddles and this season at AGDF, N2 Saddles have become the common denominator for many of the winningest riders. "It's a shame they have to cover their N2 saddles with those championship coolers in the victory passes," jokes Sue with pride.

Actually, there is some truth to Sue's statement, because along with being the saddle of choice for many of the season's most celebrated and successful riders, N2 Saddles are famous for their beautiful designs. N2 Saddlery combines the highest quality leathers in a variety of colors and hues with subtle patent leather and exotic hide accents. The result is a beautiful saddle that truly meets the needs of the horse and the needs of the rider.

In addition, N2 Saddlery is known for their exemplary customer service and their fitter's firsthand knowledge of dressage. "Even the best saddle in the world (and I think ours are that), cannot perform without a proper fit. We put as much attention in to fitting the saddles and adjusting them as the horses develop, as we put on the quality of the materials and the designs," explains Sue.

The N2 Saddlery formula works and meeting the needs of the horse and the needs of the rider has skyrocketed N2 Saddles into becoming the choice of top riders and dedicated amateur riders alike.

To find out more about N2 Saddles and why they are the common denominator for 2021 AGDF superstars like Adrienne Lyle, Kelly Layne, Sarah Lockman, and Sabine Schut-Kery, visit N2Saddlery.com or follow them on Facebook and Instagram @N2Saddlery.

Naima Moreira Laliberté and I Do Kiss Earn FEI Grand Prix Victory at AGDF 11

National competition at AGDF 11 was held from Friday, March 26, through Sunday, March 28. On Saturday, Canada's Naima Moreira Laliberté topped the FEI Grand Prix with KML Inc's I Do Kiss.

Moreira Laliberté and the 2006 Swedish Warmblood stallion by French Kiss rose to the occasion after producing a score of 68.260%. "For me," she explained, "it was a good practice run to get in there and perfect a few things that I wanted to work on, such as putting the piaffes on the spot while staying active. I was aiming for a clean test which didn't happen, but I do feel like sometimes the mistakes are necessary to improve and show me where I need to fine tune. I was happy that what we've been working on at home in the last week or two showed up in the competition arena this weekend, and that's what makes me happy at the end of the day - having a plan and having it work out."

The 24-year-old will now compete one last time at AGDF 12 before she moves on to planning for the remainder of the 2021 competition year, with sights set on the Tokyo Olympics. "The season has passed so fast," she noted. "I showed almost every week, with different horses at different levels. I have some up-and-coming young ones as well. It was a good, productive season that helped me train some specific things and improve the overall performances in the ring."

Moreira Laliberté concluded, "It feels good to be competing. I feel very privileged to be able to do it. These are not normal times, and I feel that the management has organized the horse show so well and has made it possible for us to continue doing what we love."

Second place in the FEI Grand Prix was awarded to the USA's Lehua Custer and F.J. Ramzes, Wendy Sasser's 2010 KWPN gelding by Juventus, with a 67.500%. Third place went to the USA's Holger Bechtloff on James Heath's Ferrari, a 2009 Westphalian by Florenstan I, riding to 62.673%.

On Friday, Charlotte Jorst (USA) and her own 2012 Danish Warmblood gelding by Benetton Dream FRH, Atterupgaards Botticelli, earned a win in the FEI Prix St. Georges after achieving a score of 71.764%. Second place went to Jane Hannigan (USA) and Lisa Raffaele's Dynasty, a 2000 KWPN gelding by Nouredj with a 68.382%. Third was rounded out by the USA's Lauren Knopp on Dakota, her own 2009 Hanoverian mare by Dancier, with a 68.235%.
